

Patient Centered Medical Home

Foothills Health & Wellness Center has been recognized by the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA) as a Patient Centered Medical Home. According to NCQA, patient centered medical home is a way of organizing primary care into “what patients want it to be.”

Medical homes can lead to a higher quality and lower costs, and can improve patients’ and providers’ experience of care. As a Patient Centered Medical Home, Foothills strive to give the care patients need when they need it. The center also works hard to give the care that meets patients needs and fits with their goals and values; gives care that is based on quality and safety; respects privacy; respects patients as individuals; and makes sure patients know and understand all their options for care.
